

To whom it may concern:

I think there is nothing wrong with XM Radio/Sirius using the programing to offer local information whether it be weather, sports, school information, etc. I think that the more competition the better. The reason that I purchased XM Radio was because I couldn't get the channel that I wanted (ESPN800) in my area as the signal was too weak. So I got XM Radio so I can get the channel I wanted. Now I NEVER listen to either AM or FM stations. I can go anywhere in the country and keep my station and as a consumer I love that. I would like to be able to get local info without having too change off my XM Radio. I think that the AMERICAN way is for things to change and evolve. It is time that FM/AM change the way they do things or they should lose to Sirius/XM.

Thanks
